

The Clausura season got off to an absolutely fantastic start on Saturday, March 6th. The Kites were once again undermanned (or under-peopled as I now need to say), but still managed to put together a defendable score ... defendable by any bowling attack; unfortunately, the Kites have what can only be described as a bowling 'retreat'. Excellent batting by Miles Buesst and Tim Kernutt once again. Terrible bowling by the rest. And, of course, a brutal assault by Mike Soulsby saw LCFC over the line.

The highlight of the day however, was the 'Super-8's' game which followed. Lima Cricket Academy, led by the under-used talents of Ed Baxter, took victory over Tim Kernutt's Flyers, but a real battle took place in which many contributed, not the least being Markham College teacher, Dave Hatchett, and his co-workers Cally Nixon and Holly Iverson. Sjoerd de Wit and James Lewis also shone which is great news for the U13 team which play the weekend after Easter.

Super 8 points:

LCFC: 4 new players and a win = 14.

Flyers: 4 new players = 4
